NEVADA STATE JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1894.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

Among some of the reforms demanded by the Populists is that of proportional representation. As was shown in the JOURNAL recently, in reply to the query of a correspondent, at the Presidential election in 1892 the the whole vote of the State of California was 269,923. Of these votes the Cleveland Electors received 118,293, the Harrison Electors, 118,149; the Weaver Electors, 25,352, and the Bidwell Electors 8,129. Though the Cleveland Electors fell short 33,000 votes of a majority, they cast the nine electoral votes of the State for Grover Cleveland.

At the recent election in Oregon, according to the latest returns, the total vote was 84,291, of which the Republicans polled 40,039; the Populists, 25,451; the Democrats, 16,875, and the Prohibitionists, 1,926. The opposition majority over the Republicans was 4,252. Commenting on this vote, the San Francisco Examiner says:

The Republicans cast 47.5, the Populists 30.2, the Democrats 20 and the Prohibitionists 2.3 per cent. of the total vote. A fair division of the House on this basis would have given the Republicans 29 members, the Populists 18, the Democrats 12 and the Prohibitionists 1. This would have been a little more than exact justice to the Republicans, in allowing them one member for the fractions of the Populists and Prohibitionists.

If the Legislature had been constituted in this way all phases of opinion in the State would have been accurately reflected. There would have been no possibility of reckless partisan legislation. If the Senate had also been elected on the proportional plan, a coalition of Populists, Democrats and Prohibitionists could have elected a United States Senator and passed bills, which, if unjust to the Republicans, could have been vetoed by the Republican Governor; but no party would have been in a position to ride roughshod over any other, nor would the State have been misrepresented at Washington by either Dolph or Pennoyer.

On an average it took 1,405 votes to elect one member of the lower house of the Legislature, and if justice had been done, each party would have been represented in this proportion. The actual fact is it took 770 Republicans, 3,636 Populists and 16,875 Democrats to elect one member, while the Prohibition vote did not count at all. One Republican outweighed at the polls four Populists, twenty-one Democrats and 1,926 Prohibitionists.

That it was wrong to give the entire electoral vote of California to a Presidential candidate who lacked 33,000 votes of having a majority in the State will hardly be disputed. That it is also wrong to disfranchise the majority of the Oregon electors will not be questioned, but it is the law and, however unjust, the people must submit to it until it is repealed.

Why should not all parties follow the example of the Populists and declare for proportional representation? It is just and equitable, and gives all parties a voice in law making bodies in proportion to the number of votes which they poll at an election. Now it is proclaimed throughout the land that the Republican wing of the Wall Street combination has achieved an overwhelming victory in Oregon, when the returns show that a majority of the voters are against the combination.

A FREE COINAGE BILL.

Senator Squire of Washington has introduced a bill for the free coinage of silver. It provides that the owner of silver bullion may deposit it at the mint and receive standard dollars therefor equal to the value of the bullion on the day it is deposited, the difference between the market and coinage value of the bullion to be retained by the Government as a reserve fund to be used by the Secretary of the Treasury in maintaining the parity of silver dollars with gold. The coinage of silver dollars is limited to four millions a month, and when the aggregate amount of money in circulation exceeds $40 per capita further silver coinage shall be discontinued until the circulation falls below that figure.

While the bill falls far short of what the silver men demand and what the country requires it would be an improvement on the present condition of affairs. Just now the mints coin only subsidiary silver coins and gold, and there is no demand for silver bullion except for export and use in the arts. The coinage of four million silver dollars monthly would relieve the financial stringency somewhat and make a better market for silver bullion. England now takes all the silver bullion produced in the United States for use in Asia. It makes money by depressing the price of the metal, yet our goldbugs say we must wait for England to take the initiative in remonetizing silver.

ISAAC HACKS, a miser 70 years of age and worth $70,000, was found guilty at Salem, N. Y., of causing the death of his wife by starvation. The jury recommended him to the mercy of the Court, and he was let off with a fine of a thousand dollars.

A VALUABLE prehistoric discovery is reported to have been made at Egan, South Dakota. A tomb lined with cement was uncovered in which were twenty-two skeletons, averaging eight feet in height.

IT is rumored in Washington that Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris is engaged to marry Henry Kyd Douglass, Adjutant General of the State of Maryland.

The number of deaths at Hong Kong is about 100 a day, and 100,000 people have fled from the city.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Perkins Defends the Memory of Stanford.

WASHINGTON, June 13—In the Senate today Perkins of California briefly defended the memory of the late Leland Stanford from the charge made by Representative Geary that he founded the Stanford University out of a spirit of revenge and resentment, because he was not elected Trustee of the University of California. Perkins said that when he was Governor of California he appointed Stanford Regent of the University, but at the request of the latter the Legislature did not confirm his nomination. Governor Stoneman also would have made Stanford a Regent, but the honor was declined.

Hoar offered a resolution calling on the President to inform the Senate what, if any, representations had been made to the Government by representatives of foreign countries as contemplated retaliation on account of the proposed imposition of a discriminating duty on sugar against bounty-giving countries, the facts as to the probable exclusion of our agricultural products from Germany or Gutamala, and any information in his possession relative to proposed retaliatory legislation by the Cortes of Spain on account of the abrogation of reciprocity treaty under the Tariff Act of 1890. The resolution was adopted and the Tariff debate was resumed, the pending question being Peffer's amendment to restore fifty per cent, of the duty on raw wools.

Sherman made a vigorous speech against free wool.

Horsbrough and Dubois also spoke against the Tariff bill.

THE OREGON FLOOD.

The Waters of the Columbia River Falling Rapidly.

PORTLAND, June 13.—The Columbia river and its tributaries are now falling rapidly at all points, and a still more rapid fall is looked for before the end of the week. The Willamette fell six inches at this point during the past twenty-four hours. The fall on the Columbia at Umatilla during the same time was eighteen inches. Portland is emerging from the flood and the work of renovation in the inundated district is going forward rapidly. Active preparations are being made to repair the Union Pacific between here and the Dalles.

Authentic reports from Cascades say that twenty-five stationary fishwheels, valued at from $2,000 to $4,000 each, were carried out by the flood. Many scow-wheels are also gone, and the "leads" to the remaining stationary wheels are badly damaged.

WESTERNERS AT WORK.

Determined to Force Action on Irrigation Measures

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Western members of the House have called a caucus to map out a plan of campaign on the irrigation question, and have resolved to spare no labor to secure action by this Congress. Representatives of thirteen Western States and Territories, including members of all parties, met here this week.

Representative Sweet, who called the meeting, was elected Chairman and the matter was thoroughly discussed. In accordance with the instructions of the meeting, a committee, consisting of Representative Sweet of Idaho, Coffeen of Wyoming and Baker of Kansas, called on Speaker Crisp to ask that the Committee on Rules set apart three days for the consideration of a bill which is to be agreed upon by the Western men.

The Speaker suggested that a resolution should be introduced in the regular order and asked to have copies of the bill submitted, but made no promise. Another caucus will be held by the Westerners this week.

A Chapter of Accidents.

ROCKFORD, Ill., June 13.—The family of David Christman of Pecatonia figures in a chapter of accidents. A few days ago Henry, a young son, was run over by a milk wagon and badly injured. A day or so later Charley, another son, was bitten by a mad cat and his condition is serious. Then the eldest son, Will, while returning from Freeport last night, sat down on the railroad track and fell asleep. A freight train came along and struck him. His injuries may prove fatal.

Telegraphic Notes.

George O. Gray and C. D. McNeill fought a duel near Hamilton, Montana, in which both were killed.

Havemeyer, the sugar king, testified that the trust had not contributed any money to elect the United States Senators.

It is said that General Basil Duke of the Southern Magazine will stump Ashland District against Colonel Breckinridge.

The House Committee on Banking and Currency will report another bill relating to national currency not later than June 27th.

An explosion of several hundred pounds of powder at the California Powder Works destroyed some of the building and a lot of wood near Santa Cruz.

Judge Ross of the U. S. Court of the Southern District of California sentenced a large number of commonwealers to four months in jail for stealing a train. Since then he has received a letter threatening him with dynamite.

Theodore Nevins, doorkeeper of the Chicago Exchange Board, was taken with smallpox and attended to his duties as usual until his condition was discovered. As several persons rubbed against him in passing in and out great excitement prevailed when it was ascertained that he had the smallpox.

Whitaker Hall.

The closing exercises of Whitaker Hall were held at the school building last night and were attended by a large number of guests. The principle features of the program were the essays of the Class of '94. The class was composed of Miss Bessie Chambers, Miss Nellie Phelan, Miss Mamie Morrison, Miss Edith Hurd and Miss Flora Lord. The latter young lady delivered the salutatory and Miss Morrison the valadictory. The program was interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. The essay of each of the young ladies was well written and splendidly delivered, fully proving that much study and thought had been given to the subject in hand. Prizes were awarded to a number of the students as follows: For music, first prize, Miss Flora Lord; second prize, Miss Edith Hurd. Neatest kept room among the younger pupils, first prize, to Lillian Godfroy; among the elder, Miss Flora Lord. Miss Bessie Chambers received the prize for best literature; Miss Beulah George, mathematics; Miss Vera Novacovich, sewing; Miss Rosa Bird, neatness; Miss Edith Hurd, best essay. The diplomas will be presented to the graduates at the Episcopal Church today at 11 o'clock, when it is expected that Bishop Leonard will address the class. After the exercises last evening the audience adjourned to the recreation room, where the entertainment was closed with dancing.

When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. ### UNDER THE DOME.

Mr. Newlands Secures an Important Appropriation for Nevada—Some Other Items of Interest.

[By C. D. Van Duzer.]

Last week at a meeting of the Committee on Arid Lands and Irrigation Congressman Sweet offered a bill providing for the expenditure of $25,000 for a survey of the Snake River Valley by and under direction of the Secretary of War. This survey was to have reference to irrigation development and the reclamation of arid lands. Mr. Newlands moved that a sub-committee be appointed to draft a substitute wherein it should be provided that all the arid States be included and that a certain specific river be designated in each State upon which this work should be done. That a provision for doing the work in a general way would not be productive of the results that could be accomplished by setting out some particular line of work in each State. A sub-committee was appointed by Chairman Cooper, with Mr. Newlands as Chairman, and Pence of Colorado, Sweet of Idaho, Hartman of Montana and Doolittle of Washington, the other members. Yesterday they met and drafted a bill, the provisions of which appear below. Mr. Newlands designated the Humboldt river in Nevada. On motion of Mr. Newlands that $25,000 be appropriated for each State, was unanimously carried.

WHY THE HUMBOLDT WAS DESIGNATED.

In designating the Humboldt river, Mr. Newlands took into consideration the fact that it was the longest river in the State, reaching from northern Elko county to the western portion of the State, including many hundreds of thousands of acres of good land. Inasmuch as the Carson and Truckee have both been thoroughly examined and reported on and very little work of this nature being accomplished on the Humboldt, he named that river to receive the benefit of the provisions of the bill.

THE SUBSTITUTE BILL

Which was agreed upon is as follows: That to encourage the reclamation of arid lands and the cultivation and sale thereof in small tracts to actual settlers, the Secretary of War is hereby directed to cause to be made an accurate survey of the lands and water in the following States as hereinafter set forth and to prepare suitable maps showing the ditches or canals or reservoirs necessary for the reclamation of said lands, to what extent the water supply is sufficient therefor and to accompany said maps with estimates showing the cost of construction of each canal or reservoir and the quantity of land and the specific tracts possible of reclamation thereunder.

Then follows names of States specifying what river is to receive benefit of work.

This bill will be unanimously reported from the committee to the House, where it will come up for consideration in the near future and a hard fight be made for its passage.

Prospect for legislation in this Congress is fair. Never before was there a Committee of Irrigation constituted with as many Western members favorable to irrigation, and, in view of this fact, endeavors will be put forth to carry through something for the West in the way of irrigation.

NEVADA MEN IN THE DEPARTMENTS.

Not long ago attention was called to the fact of the numerous contingent of Nevada people (so-called) in office here. In the examination of a report by the Secretary of the Interior recently made in answer to a resolution of Senator Gallinger, who requested data as to the number of appointments, promotions and dismissals during the last year in the Interior Department, it is seen that Nevada during the past year has had two people promoted, one new one appointed and none dismissed. And still it is said that our Senatorial delegation has no influence, and when deserving young men from the State, here in Washington endeavoring to gain an education, have sought their influences they have been turned away with the information that the Administration was against them and it was useless to ask anything. Yet two outsiders have been promoted and one appointed in the last year. Still the good work goes on. Your correspondent has directed a letter to the Secretary of the Interior asking the names of the parties promoted and appointed. It is the rankest injustice the State ever suffered from and should be aired.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands, be it said to his credit, has placed himself on record in this matter and made the statement that he would turn down the first outsider that applied, and whatever patronage he might have to distribute would go to Nevada young men who desired the advantages of educational facilities in Washington.

Albert M. Lewers, one of Nevada's native sons, arrived in Washington a few days since and is now at his desk in the Patent Office, to which place he was appointed by virtue of the fact that he passed one of the highest examinations in the United States. His merit alone secured his appointment. The position is considered one of the best in the Government service, for there is opportunity for rapid promotion. The usual promotions being $200 a year from Fourth Examiner to First Examiner, which latter place is worth $2,000 a year.

INDIAN APPPOPRIATIONS BILL.

It Includes the Following Items for Nevada.

[Special to the JOURNAL from its Washington Correspondent.]

The annual appropriation from Committee on Indian Affairs, of which Representative Holman of Indiana is Chairman, was placed before the House to-day. There have been many radical reforms introduced by Holman, whose economy and retrenchment has become traditional. The bill makes many cuts and portions of it will be vigorously opposed when it comes up for discussion in the House. It includes the following items for Nevada:

For pay of Indian Agents:—

| | |
|---|---|
| At Nevada Agency | $ 1,500 00 |
| At Western Shoshone Agency | 1,500 00 |

Fulfilling treaty stipulations for support of Indians:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Shoshones, for purchase of clothing, etc | $10,000 00 |
| Shoshones, for pay of physician, carpenter, miller, engineer, etc | 5,000 00 |
| Shoshones, for pay of second blacksmith and material, etc | 1,000 00 |

For miscellaneous supports:

| | |
|---|---|
| For support and civilization of Shoshone Indians, including pay of employees | $10,000 00 |

General incidental expenses of the Indian service:—

| | |
|---|---|
| For Nevada, for general incidental expenses, including traveling expenses of Agents and support and civilization of Indians located on the Pinte, Walker River and Pyramid Lake Reservations | $14,000 00 |
| Payment of employes at same agencies | 5,000 00 |

For support of schools:—

| | |
|---|---|
| At Carson City | $20,875 00 |
| General repairs | 3,000 00 |
| Pay of Superintendent | 1,500 00 |

There was considerable trouble experienced in getting the bill formulated, as it is one of the most important appropriation bills that comes before the House.

Stabbing Affray.

At about half past eight o'clock last night Joe Curry and a Chinaman met near Thos. E. Haydon's residence across the river. It seems that Curry owed the Chinaman fifty cents, and a quarrel took place, ending in the Chinaman stabbing Curry below the right breast, also cutting him just above the forehead.

Dr. Dawson was called and upon examination found that a rib had prevented a dangerous wound on the breast, and the cut on the head, while a bad one, is not serious. The Chinaman was arrested, and upon being searched a pistol and knife were found upon him.

MENTAL IMAGES.

Material Pictures Contemporaneous With Thought Impressed Upon the Brain.

"A man conversing in earnest," says Emerson in his essay on "Nature," "if he watch his intellectual processes, will find that a material image, more or less luminous, arises in his mind contemporaneous with every thought, which furnishes the vestment of the thought."

This power of forming mental images appears to vary in strength among individuals to a considerable degree. Naturally we should expect to find it powerful in poets and artists. Charles Dickens has himself told us that he actually "saw" his creations as he wrote, and M. Taine mentions a painter who only looked at an object while he sketched its outline and was able to fill in the colors from the image of it in his mind. On the other hand, there are people of equal intelligence who, being unable to see such mental images themselves, have doubted their existence, and Mr. Francis Galton has shown that habits of abstract thought, such as men of science and philosophers indulge in, are apt to weaken the capacity of forming mental pictures.

Mr. Kirkpatrick of Winona, Minn., an experimental psychologist, has made a series of observations on this phenomenon with the help of his classes. The scholars were asked to write down just what came into their minds when certain familiar words, such as "book," "tree," "church," were called out, and the answers were carefully investigated. He found that the majority of the students formed distinct images of the objects corresponding to the words, and the rest formed indistinct images, with a few exceptions, who seem to have indulged in philosophical abstractions. The word "book," for example, called up visions of a Bible, a dictionary, a novel, in all but a few scholars, who thought of "food for the mind" or "the thoughts of some person." The word "tree" was represented by some kind of tree, more especially the illustrious cherry tree which George Washington cut down. The word "church" usually evoked a picture of some church in the vicinity, but some of the hearers thought of a "religious organization." It is evident from his results that most people are "visualizers" in thinking, while a few are "nonvisualizers." The tendency to form distinct images was very conspicuous among the female students, and in both sexes it reaches an abnormal development about the ages of 14 and 15, or during the period of adolescence, which, it has been otherwise observed, is also one of exceptional good health and rapid growth. The tendency is further checked or fostered by the occupations in life.—Cassell's Magazine.

The Clock Winding Snake.

In Persia there is a kind of snake which is known to the natives as the clock winding snake. It derives its name from a peculiar buzzing noise which it makes that resembles the winding of a clock. These snakes are perfectly harmless and frequently glide in and out of the houses, no attention being paid to them by the natives. During a visit there several years ago I was attracted one morning by an unusual twittering of birds, and on looking up saw about 20 sparrows on the top of a wall, all jumping about in an excited manner.

At first I was at a loss to understand the cause of such a commotion, but presently I heard the peculiar buzzing of the clock winding snake and in a minute perceived the reptile crawling along the wall, making directly for the birds, which appeared to be fascinated and made no attempt to fly away. The snake glided in among the birds, and choosing one to his liking deliberately seized it in his mouth and swallowed it. I picked up a stick, and after killing the snake cut him open and extracted the sparrow. After about 10 minutes' exposure to the sun the bird got up, and in a few minutes more flew away apparently unhurt. — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Rosebery's Foresight.

The foresight Lord Rosebery displayed in arranging his matrimonial plans is illustrated in the following anecdote: Shortly after he had returned from his continental tour he was one of a house party at Mentmore, a lordly pleasure house which Baron Meyer Rothschild had built for himself in Buckinghamshire. One evening, at dinner, the conversation turned on the exquisite decorations of the room. Lord Rosebery's observation to his next neighbor, by way of epilogue to the conversation, was, "Yes, this place would suit me excellently." When, seven years later, he had married the daughter of the house and was the owner of Mentmore, his friend, happening to meet him, reminded him of this observation. Lord Rosebery replied with assumed gravity, but with a telltale twinkle in his eye, "Well, of course you know that the unexpected always happens."—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Philanthropist.

"What is the subject of your lecture?" inquired the editor.

"'The Cause of Hard Times and How to Cure Them,'" replied the gifted orator, "and as the object of the lecture is in its very nature purely philanthropic I will ask you to be generous in the matter of free notices. By the way," he added hurriedly, "I forgot to fill a blank in this advertisement. I will attend to it now."

And he took the copy and filled the blank after the words, "Price of admission," by inserting the simple characters, "$1."—Chicago Tribune.

Increase of Suicides In Austria.

The increase in the number of suicides in Austria, which is stated to have been very marked in the sixties and seventies, fell off in the 10 years 1880-90. Since the latter date, however, it has again become noticeable. In 1891 the number of suicides was 872, in the following year it was 903, and last year it reached 1,005.—London Times.

Something warm and strong and pleading.
Full return demanding, needing,
In the meshes of the thread.
All unwitting, simply knitting.
Recking not of needles glancing,
Nor of fingers, white, entrancing.
Ah! but lift that fair bent head,
"All unwitting," have I said?

A House In a Day.

"Ready made houses are becoming the fashion," said a builder. "If you want a dwelling of your own nowadays, you do not need to wait half a year to get it put up. You can have it built in a day. You write to a firm engaged in the business for its advertising book, which contains pictures of houses that the firm is prepared to construct at prices all the way from $150 to $5,000, together with plans and specifications. Pick out your residence, and an order addressed to the firm will fetch at short notice all the requisite materials, deposited on your lot. Within 24 hours the dwelling is up and complete. You may have a cellar if you like, though most of the houses built in this way are without cellars. All of the parts are ready made and so matched and numbered that they can be put together in an enormously short space of time. This kind of building has become quite in vogue at summer resorts of late years. Nearly the whole of Cottage City, on the island of Martha's Vineyard, is constructed in that way. If you want a cheap place to live in summer, buy a little patch of cheap land near the beach in some secluded locality and put up a ready made house on it. The whole cost ought not to be over $200."—Washington Star.

From the Mollusk Via the Monkey.

It is permissible for a Catholic to believe that neither Noah nor Adam was the father of all mankind, and it further follows that a Catholic may believe that man came from the mollusk via the monkey. Being a Catholic, I am at once conservative and liberal. The truth lies between. As a conservative I cling to my parents, Adam and Eve. As a liberal I am inclined to believe that some of the human race came by evolution from the mollusk through the monkey to the stature and form, though not to the color or smell of the descendants of Adam.

In other words, I am inclined to believe that the white man is a descendant of Adam, a special miraculous creation, and the colored races, black, yellow and red, are the product of evolution and may boast of a more ancient ancestry than can you or I.—J. Audley Maxwell in Donahoe's Magazine.

Not Yet Defined.

Ida asked, "What is the feeling of love?" Answer: Love is a very complex and complicated combination of sensations. There are more frost and fever, more bliss and agony, more smiles and tears and more exhilaration and desperation to the square inch in love than in all the other experiences of the human family. Philosophers and sages have tried in vain, ever since the world began, to find out just exactly what it is. It is altogether likely that Ida could answer the question quite as well as the prophets of old.—New York Ledger.

Sandstorms.

More than once we had practical experience of sandstorms. On the first occasion my tent was blown over upon me as I slept, and I was left crawling about under the flapping canvas trying to find my shoes. When I had emerged, I found this new kind of hailstorm rather trying to the exposed parts, and I rather prided myself on my success in re-erecting my house unaided. The other tents held, and their occupants did not know of my mishap, but every other upright thing was cast down, and a number of loose properties went off into the desert. They were all recovered except a sponge, which, being light and elastic, hopped off miles beyond recovery, and by the next morning might have arrived in the mahdi's country. The next visitation was in the daytime, when we were on the march. I saw it coming in the distance, a wall of sand cloud sweeping toward us, though the atmosphere where we were was still. I stopped the caravan and began pitching camp immediately, but before the operation was complete we were struck by the storm of sand through which we could not see 20 yards. After half an hour of this a person feels like a fried sole covered with bread crumbs.—Nineteenth Century.

Not an Unusual "Lapse."

Certain physicians who are ardent specialists are accused by their brethren—the general practitioners—with seeing everything through the eyes of their specialty and of jumping to conclusions. This note from an alienist's or "nervous specialist's" diagnosis of a certain case is cited:

The patient Q. is of unsound mind; suffers singular lapses of the memory. There is manifested, moreover, a curious correlation in these lapses between ideas of persons and ideas of money. Thus it is noted that on several occasions he has totally failed to recognize his creditors when he has met them on the street.—Youth's Companion.

Two Scenes.

Scene One—Schoolroom. Small Boy (as the rattan falls gently on his hands)—Wow, wow, o-o-ough! I'm killed! Boo-hoo! My hands are tender, teacher! Boo-oo-ooh!

Scene Two—A Field. Same Small Boy (same day)—Soak der ball in harder, Chimmy! Why doncher put some speed inter it? Let 'er go! It don't hurt me hands a bit! Slug 'er in!—Boston Traveller.
